The Challenge

Located in a remote area, our client struggled to find consistent special education staff — especially for short-term needs, such as student evaluations. Faced with ongoing challenges in securing consistent services, the district managed multiple staffing agencies and their varied processes and paperwork, resulting in inefficiencies, staffing gaps, and administrative overload for their internal teams.

Our Solution

Recognizing the geographical challenges our client was facing, BlazerWorks was able to access our large supplier network and leverage a partner who specializes in providing remote special education staff for schools. Through virtual services, our staffing agency partner delivered consistent, high-quality staff that other staffing agencies struggled to supply for the district. Just as significant, we simplified the district's contract staffing operations, including on-demand reporting and credentialing, consolidated invoicing, and automated timesheet tracking. This significantly reduced administrative strain and freed up valuable time for district staff.

Our client-first approach made all the difference—by building trust and fostering open communication, BlazerWork's dedicated account manager helped the district garner on-site support for virtual sessions, creating a smoother process and a more stable environment for both the providers and students.
